

ABSTRACT

A gaming machine for conducting a wagering game comprises a processor and a value input device for receiving a wager from a player to play the game. The processor is operative to accumulate bonus points based on predetermined criteria, 5 and allow the player to redeem a number of the bonus points for an award at a time selected by the player.